What New York Critics Said of "The Brat"—

New York Sun—Interest maintained to the end—bright and catchy lines.

New York Times—A female "Chimney Sweep," an amusing piece.

New York Tribune—Again and again there are those delightful moments which right things inspire. The play was enthusiastically received.

New York World—Has much freshness and fun; most uproarious laughter.

New York Herald—Witty, highly satirical and original.

New York Globe—Audience laughed heartily; most amusing play I have seen this season.

New York American—Play filled with human interest and no end of funny situations; a unique and delightful character.

Used Secret Code; Escaped U. S. Law

BLOSSOM SEELY—ORPHEUM

The speed, efficiency and thoroughness with which the American secret service was demonstrated to Blossom Seely, headline at the Orpheum this week, several weeks ago in a manner she says she will never forget. One matinee, shortly before code messages were heard of a well-dressed young man called to see her. He presented his card.

"The Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice of the United States," he said, "this morning you sent this wire—and he handed her a copy of a cryptic telegram she had filed that day—What does it mean, please?" This was the wire: "A-B-C-D-K-H-F-E-L-L."

For a moment Miss Seely stared at him. Then she burst out laughing. But the secret service man just stood there and looked at her without even so much as a smile. He was all business. There was no mistake about that. "You poor man," laughed Miss Seely, "you don't mean to say you suspect me of sending messages to the enemy?" "Miss Seely," replied the government man seriously, "this is war. You must forget that." "Well," said the sympathetic Miss Seely, "here's where you learn something."

"This is in a code that vaudeville performers use when they wish to communicate with each other regarding local conditions. I sent this wire to act that I am going to play this city next week. This is what it means: A means audience is good. B means dressing room are good. C means orchestra is good. D means manager is good. E means hotel is good. F means transportation is good. G means the company is good. H means lighting of the theater is good, and L means stage crew is good. There is no word mystery. As it happens this town of yours is A-L, but the code contains many other words, and not all of them are complimentary, either."

ENGLAND DEBATES NATIONAL FINANCE

Coalition Attacks Government on Charges of Extravagance and Waste.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—National finance was the topic up for debate in the house of commons today with the government facing probably as critical a body of members as ever in the history of parliament. More than 100 members had given notice of a desire to speak and all were understood to be prepared to belabor the government for its alleged waste and extravagance. Some of the government's keenest critics are among the supporters of the coalition, including such staunch unionists as Sir Edward Carson and Lord Robert Cecil. The program called for the introduction this afternoon by Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, of the official resolution drafted by the cabinet at Monday's meeting. The motion declares "that this house, realizing the serious effects upon the trade and industry of the nation of the enormous financial burdens resulting from the war, promises its hearty support to the government in all reasonable proposals, however drastic, for the reduction of expenditure and the diminution of the debt."

This is counted as equivalent to a demand for a vote of confidence. Donald Maclean, for the independent liberals, and W. C. Adamson, for the labor party, have tabled amendments which are virtually equivalent to votes of censure.

It is expected the debate will occupy the remainder of the parliamentary week. Both Premier Lloyd George and Mr. Balfour, the government leader, will speak in the government's defense. Winston Churchill, the war secretary, will defend the war office against which some of the strongest charges of extravagance have been launched. Others of the ministers probably will offer defenses of their respective departments. Notwithstanding the intense anti-government feeling in a large section of both the house and electorate, present opinion in political quarters is that the defeat of the government is unlikely.

Inventory Of Coal Supply In City Will Be Taken

Railroad officials at Memphis received a telegram from government officials Wednesday morning requesting prompt information on the amount of coal in the hands of dealers, and public utility companies, schools, hospitals and public and private institutions, with a view to the length of time the street railway, electric, gas and water companies would be able to operate in the event of a strike of the coal miners. The inquiry is taken to mean that the government is preparing to take a firm stand to meet any situation that may arise as a result of the contemplated strike and it is believed here that if the strike is called the government will take entire charge of the distribution of coal through a rationing system.

Why Did JUILLIARD Give Ten Million Dollars as a Gift of Music to the People?

—To Benefit Mankind.

JUILLIARD'S gift is a concrete evidence that a new era is here—a new era for music and a new era for the people. The war demonstrated the value of music in a spectacular way with irrefutable conclusiveness. Since the armistice, music has been rendering its service in an ever widening field.

JUILLIARD, by his gift of a great fortune, has done more than give his millions—he has put the stamp of recognition upon music's wonderful power to serve the people, and the millions he gave are but a forerunner of a steady stream of millions from all over the country for this same cause.

Military commanders have used music to win battles and sustain the army. Industrial leaders have used it to brighten the condition of the workers and facilitate production. Civic authorities have used it to develop a community spirit and arouse an interest in the city and its welfare and progress.

Now, philanthropists, whose sole interest is the welfare of the people, have turned to music as a means whereby they may best serve them.

This marks a new epoch—the age of music.

What are you doing to develop the love of music in your child? Do not leave this duty to a philanthropist. Fill your house with music and you will fill it with sunshine. Your children will absorb it as they do air and sunshine and your own heart will be glad.

PLAN TO EXHIBIT IN NATIONAL SHOW

The tri-state breeders of pigeons and rabbits made plans to get on the national map in big letters at a meeting of the Tri-State Pigeon and Rabbit Breeders' association to be held at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. Members of the association decided to send 150 pigeons and the same number of rabbits to the National Pigeon show which will be held in Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 4 to 8. Among these two assortments will be placed the best pigeons and rabbits in the territory and it is expected that some of the most important prizes offered at the show will be won by the Southern entrants.

Joe Mett, poultry director for the Chamber of Commerce farm bureau, and other members of the association will accompany the exhibits to Indianapolis.

HUNS IN MEXICO PLAN TO GET OTHERS THERE

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—(By Associated Press.)—The League for the protection of German emigrants learns that the German colony in Mexico is taking measures to assist countrymen who desire to settle in Mexico. A committee formed by members of the colony is working with the German consul-general at Mexico City. The committee in a communication calls attention to the financial difficulties of these arriving without funds.

Sub-committees have been formed at Tampico and Vera Cruz to give advice and shelter to Germans arriving in Mexico. The same has been done in Mexico City by the principal committee which has opened headquarters there.

U. S. AND JAP VESSELS BEING USED IN BALTIC

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(French Wireless Service.)—American and Japanese steamships are engaged in the Baltic, according to a telegram from Ravel. The Japanese are carrying coal while the Americans carry cargoes of materials needed by sugar refineries.

THE MUSICAL BIRTHRIGHT

Sound, rhythm and melody are the baby's first artistic experiences and first means of self-expression.

THE NATIONAL CHILD WELFARE ASSOCIATION has been so greatly impressed with the value of music to the growing child that they have published a special pamphlet entitled "Music and Childhood." The above is one of the panel illustrations. Every parent should send for a copy of the booklet.
